(Natural News) Attorneys from Brisbane, Australia, the United Kingdom and elsewhere are suing governments and the pharmaceutical industry for the role they played in unleashing deadly “vaccines” for the Wuhan coronavirus (COVID-19) that have injured and killed millions of people.

Numerous class-action lawsuits, we are told, have already been filed – and more are on the way – as part of a massive, worldwide effort to hold accountable those responsible for the manufacture and mandate of the deadly shots, which manifested through Operation Warp Speed.

Podcast sensation Joe Rogan conducted an interview recently with Dr. Aseem Malhotra about the matter, in which they discussed the undue influence and control that Big Pharma has over medical research.

“It’s not scientific, it’s not ethical ... and it’s not democratic,” Dr. Malhotra told Rogan about how most “peer-reviewed” drug research is company-sponsored, meaning the drug industry controls its direction while withholding raw data access from scientists, who instead get the drug industry's own interpretation of that data, allowing for manipulation and obfuscation.

"The greater the financial interest in a given field, the less likely the research findings are to be true," Dr. Malhotra added, further noting that unless a scientist or doctor is directly involved in the peer review process, he or she is likely unaware of the hidden corruption that steers mainstream "science."

Big Pharma colludes with Big Academic and Big Science to pull wool over patients' eyes

Concerning the lawsuits, an increasing number of individuals, many of them duped by Big Pharma themselves, are waking up to the truth about what modern "science" truly is: a scam perpetrated by private interests with dollar signs in their eyes.

It is all about money, in other words, not patient health. In fact, the sicker the person, the more money that can be harvested through endless "treatments" and drug regimens, which produce adverse effects that require even more "treatments" and drug regimens – and so on and so forth.

According to Dr. Malhotra, the biggest scandal in all this has to do with how academic institutions and medical schools are turning a blind eye to all the corruption – which is more than likely the case because they, too, are on the dole of Big Pharma.

"Those with the responsibility to uphold scientific integrity – academic institutions, doctors, medical journals – collude with industry for financial gain," Dr. Malhotra explained, adding that government regulatory agencies, i.e., the Food and Drug Administration and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, are also "on the take."

With just about every major player now fully captured by the drug industry, there is virtually nobody left to protect patients. Consequently, a growing number of patients are taking matters into their own hands with lawsuits against the perpetrators of these crimes against humanity.

The way drug companies conduct business actually meets the definition of a psychopath, which Dr. Robert Hare, the forensic psychologist who developed the original DSM criteria for psychopathy, describes as:

“Callous unconcern for the feelings of others, incapacity to experience guilt, deceitfulness and conning others for profit.”

Between 2003 and 2016, drug companies have been forced to pay out fines totaling $33 billion, which sounds like a lot until you realize that this is just a drop in the bucket compared to what the drug industry rakes in profit-wise every year.
